

I am from a land famed for its torrential downpours. Rain is a part of our culture, well something can't be ignored if it pours down for straight six months a year. After every heavy deluge, the magic remains in the form of drops from leaves, window sills, and my mind! Global warming paid its heavy role in reducing our magical rains, as a boy/man who believes that there is no love without rain it took a heavy toll. But I pray that all remains the same and My font will be here as a tribute to those magical moments it created and in the music it made while it kissed the earth.
